

The MMW Newsletter

Issue No. 002 // February 1st, 2025

I feel grateful and honored to share the second issue of the MarkMurphyWrites.com Newsletter. We've doubled our subscriber list since last week... from 10 to 20... so thank you "old" and new for agreeing to be a part of this quest! With some grace and good fortune, there will be many newsletters and novels to follow.

This week: I was able to add a flash fiction story titled, "Why We Go North." Check out the details below and enjoy a short, positive reading experience. I failed to make it to the Pikes Peak Writers Night on Sunday... poor weather made the decision an easy one for me.

Time for a bit of trivia: What author said, "I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel"?

Sam did a huge amount of website work last weekend, and I want to publicly thank her for the love and support. Thanks, Babe! We will continue to make it more user friendly each week. Any creative website designers out there who've used Bluehost or WordPress? Call me so we can fix some bugs :)

Recent articles

Why We Go North

A reluctant friend agrees to help his friend move north to Minnesota. Why are we going north?

Read Story

Upcoming Events

War, Literature and the Arts Submission

This week, I will submit a few poems about military aviation to War, Literature and the Arts. WLA is a journal published annually by my alma mater, the US Air Force Academy. Interested in WLA? Check out the link below.

WLA Homepage

Pikes Peak Writers Conference

I've committed to attending the Writers Conference in May. It's my first one, and I'm pretty stoked. Hit the link below if you'd like to join me.

PPW Conference Info

That's all he wrote for this week. Thanks again for your support! Stay tuned to upcoming issues and see if I can get any works published on other platforms this spring.

[Answer to tonight's trivia: Maya Angelou. If you've never read her work, I recommend picking up anything she's ever done. Or, use YouTube to listen to her recite her own poem, On the Pulse of Morning <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=59xGmHzxtZ4>]

Unsubscribe · Preferences